COVER CAT

The elegant Blue Point Birman male on the cover is GRAND CH. GHING'S ZUZIM OF CHANALEV. Bred by Emilie and John Larmon, he is owned by Laura and Louis Brockman of New York; his portrait is by the famous Creszentia.

ZUZIM introduces the Sixth Annual Salute to the GREAT CATS OF NORTH AMERICA, the 1978 Grand Champions, Grand Premiers and National Award Winners of Cat Fanciers Association which begins on page 23. Almost 200 of these fabulous cats are presented by their proud owners in the CAT WORLD Grand and National Portrait Galleries. This unique display gives fanciers of fine cats all over the world an opportunity to see the very best of American and Canadian stock.

There is no other cat association anywhere that can claim a paid entry of over 60,000 cats at its shows in one season - or anything approaching that figure. These cats compete only for CFA-sanctioned awards. The ones who succeed in winning CFA Grand titles and/or a CFA National/Regional Award in the face of such overwhelming competition truly deserve their acclaim. They are indeed - AMERICA'S BEST FELINES!

Owners of CFA Grands or National Award winners who missed the closing date for this issue due to vacations, photo delays, etc., can still present their winners in the pages of CAT WORLD Magazine. Photos may be sent, together with the completed pink or mauve forms, to P.O. Box 27037, Denver, CO 80227: they will appear in our September/October issue.

CFA REGIONAL AWARDS

Next issue we will be running the annual chart of CFA Regional Award Winners and the popular Regional Gallery. We do not have the addresses of all owners of the winners. If you are the owner of a winner in any of CFA's seven Regions and would like to present him/her in the Regional Gallery, please write to us for an entry form and information.

USDA REVISES TRANSPORTATION REGULATIONS

Under the revised regulations of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, now in effect, exhibitors are authorized to use certificates signed by veterinarians, certifying the animals being shipped are acclimated to temperatures below the limit of 45 degrees fahrenheit (7.2 degrees celsius) within the cage or container.

USDA licensees and registrants and U.S. government agencies are also authorized to use certificates signed by the shipper to assure commercial carriers that cages or shipping containers meet standards of size, strength, ventilation, sanitation and safety prescribed by the Animal Welfare Act.

Commercial carriers or intermediate handlers are no longer required to designate a single separate animal holding area within cargo terminals. This permits carriers to handle "inbound" and "outbound" animal shipments separately. However, carriers are still prohibited from co-mingling animal shipments with other cargo.

The amended rules also eliminate the terms "ambient" and "atmospheric" in reference to the temperatures in animal holding areas. Temperature requirements will not be specified as "air temperature". Conditions under which air conditioning and other artificial ventilation might be used are also clarified.

The text of the new rules appeared in the May 16 Federal Register. (Continued on p.73)

POINT SCORE

Head and Neck	20	Coat	20
Body Type	20	Color	20
Eye Shape	5	Eye Color	10
Ears	5

GENERAL: The good show specimen has good physical condition, is firm in muscle tone, and alert.

HEAD: Top of skull flat and long. The face is broad across the eyes due to wide eye-set and thick fur.

EARS: Rather large and wide at the base. Tips more pointed than rounded. The skin of the ears is thin and translucent, with very little inside furnishing. The outside of the ear is scantily covered with short, very fine hair, with leather showing through. Set far apart, as much on side as on the top of the head.

EYES: Set wide apart. Aperture rounded in shape.

NECK: Long and slender, but appearing short due to thick fur and high placement of shoulder blades.

NOSE: Medium in length.

CHIN: Under-chin is level.

BODY: Fine boned, long, firm and muscular, lithe and graceful in outline and carriage.

LEGS: Long and fine-boned.

PAWS: Small, slightly rounded. Toes, five in front and four behind.

TAIL: Long, but in proportion to the body. Tapering from a moderately thick base.

COAT: Short, dense, fine and plush. Double coat stands out from body due to density. It has a distinct soft and silky feel.

COLOR: Even bright blue throughout. Lighter shades of blue preferred. Guard hairs silver-tipped giving the cat a silvery sheen or lustrous appearance. A definite contrast should be noted between ground color and tipping. Free from tabby markings.

Nose Leather: Slate grey. Paw Pads: Lavender-pink or mauve. Eye Color: Vivid green.

DISQUALIFY: Kinked or abnormal tail. Locket or button. Incorrect number of toes.

It has been many years since I saw my first Russian Blue and yet I still feel a thrill whenever I see an excellent example of this unique and beautiful breed. The Russian Blue standard, as the cat it describes, has undergone various changes over the years. However, I feel, the cats being shown today more nearly meet the standard of yesterday and today than did the cats of fifteen or twenty years ago.

As with every breed of cat various regional differences do occur. That is to say, for example, Abyssinians or Burmese on the east coast are not exactly the same type of cats that are seen on the west coast. So it is with Russian Blues. However, today, differences in head and body type are less drastic.

Head type, which was the most dramatic difference, has become more consistent. The Swedish cats with their flat profiles, wide almost round eyes and large wide set ears have prevailed. The Hazletts (who lived in Texas and have since left the cat fancy scene), along with Dorothy Lech on the east coast, whose Three Crown cats are famous across the country, have done the most to set this head type.

Although the present CFA Standard describes the head type in just a few words, Russian Blue breeders are generally agreed that the flat profile is a must. Russian Blues have a long, wide forehead, wide set large ears, large almost round eyes, a broad nose and a rounded muzzle. The composite picture is of a broad wedge.

Nose length is described as medium. The difference between individual concepts of medium account for the "extreme" and "less extreme" types of Russian Blues being shown. I do not find this difficult to deal with as most breeds have "extremes" within the breed and over the long haul the most "acceptable" cats will be the most consistent winners in the show ring.

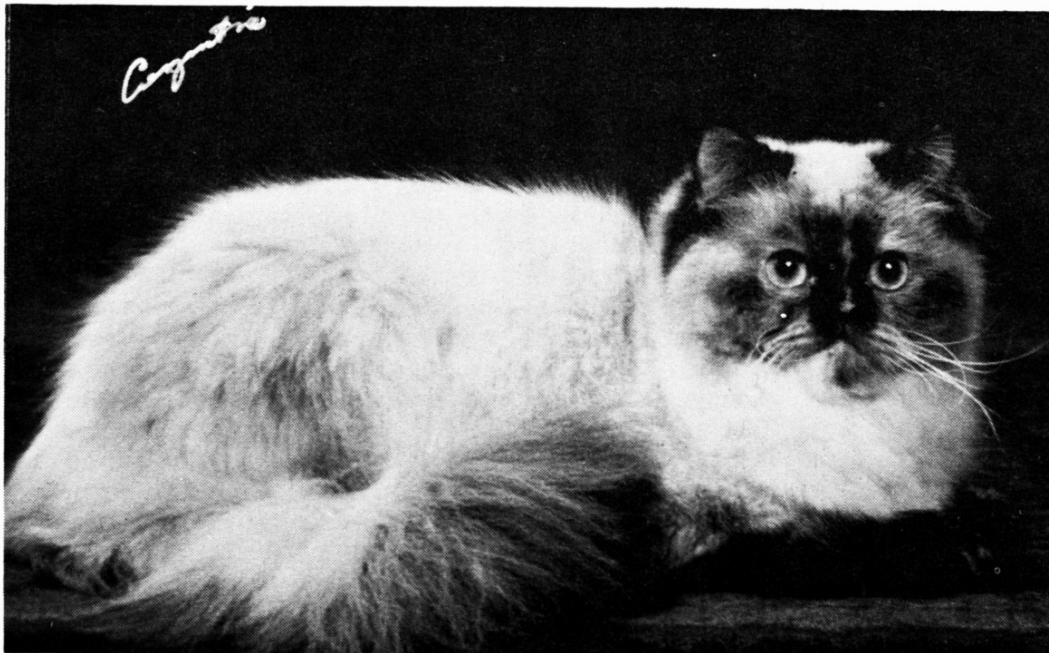

Just a word of explanation on my use of the term "extreme" in relation to breeding cats. Extreme is defined in the dictionary as: exceeding the ordinary, usual or expected. A Russian Blue that is longer bodied than most or has a longer head than most or more refined boning than most would be considered "extreme". Extreme in a Burmese, for example, might mean a cat that has a shorter nose than most, or a shorter body than most, etc.

Extreme is not a connotation of good or bad necessarily, just a definition for a not commonly seen exaggeration of a breed standard feature. As all standards are "man made" so to speak, the decision as to whether a particular type of "extreme" will become common and thus the standard lies mainly with breeders and judges, unless that exaggeration is not sound healthwise and then it will, over a period of time, be self-limiting.

Having bred both "middle of the road" and "extreme" Russian Blues I can see the beauty in both types. My experience has been that the more medium cats are the most consistent winners. However, medium cats bred to medium cats usually wind up with the kittens becoming short headed, short bodied and short legged. This is not desirable, so then one must introduce a more extreme cat into one's breeding program in order to balance out this problem. In the same vein, an extreme cat bred to an extreme cat produces a very extreme cat, so that a person must introduce a less extreme cat in order to regain the most desirable balance.

The same Swedish lines that gave us the most desirable head type have also been responsible for the truly emerald green eye color called for in the standard. Good Russian Blue eye color is obvious from the time the kitten's eye color changes from blue to its adult color. A kitten that will have outstanding eye color will change from blue to a grayish tone and then to green. One must judge the degree of yellow in a kitten's eyes to determine what its adult color will be. A pale yellow rim denotes a better adult eye color to come. A very deep yellow rim, even if the green around the pupil is vivid, is usually going to be a continuing problem. It is almost a rule of thumb among Russian Blue breeders that the more outstanding the coat color the more difficult it is to obtain good green eye color. One usually hopes that if the kitten's coat is very light and well-tipped that the eye color will be, at least, a good lime green if not a vivid green.

It is interesting to note that the source of almost all the vivid green eye color in Russian Blues today comes from two cats: GRAND CH. PAVEL OF BRAHEBORG (IMP) and his litter-sister CH. EROSJINA OF BRAHEBORG (IMP). Although these two cats are no longer with us, they have left us a continuing legacy. When one sees a really green eyed kitten or cat today, you can be pretty sure that one of these two cats is in the pedigree. Strangely enough, or perhaps not so strangely, PAVEL and EROSJINA had almost no tipping and were almost slate gray in color. Surely this is a case where a Russian Blue breeder would give a right arm to have those green eyes and never mind the coat color.

The body type called for in the Russian Blue standard is very definite leaving little to the imagination. BODY: Fine boned, long, firm and muscular, lithe and graceful in outline and carriage. LEGS: Long and fine-boned. It is my personal feeling that the refinement of body type defined in the standard can best be found in the English/Swedish combination first introduced by Peg Calkin's Felinest cats.

COAT

The most famous Felinest cat, GRAND CH. FELINEST SILVER DOLLAR, is also the basis for most of the outstanding coat tipping we find on most of today's silver coated Russian Blues.

HEAD - 15 points

Medium in width and medium in length, with a squareness to the muzzle. Allowance should be made for broadening in older studs. Cheek bones high. Chin firm and in line with the nose and upper lip. Nose medium long in length. NO BREAK IN THE NOSE.

EARS - 8 points

Large, tall, well-tufted, wide at the base, tapering to a pointed appearance. Set well apart.

EYES - 7 points

Large, wide set. Slightly oblique setting. Eye color should be shades of green and/or gold, though white cats may also be either blue or odd-eyed. There is NO RELATION BETWEEN EYE COLOR AND COAT COLOR. Clarity of eye color is desirable.

BODY - 18 points

Muscular, broadchested. Size medium to large, females may be smaller than males. The body should be long with all parts in proportion to create a rectangular appearance. The chest should be full. Neck should be medium long, giving the appearance of length to the body. In older, mature cats and studs the neck may be thick and muscular, giving the appearance of power and strength.

LEGS & FEET - 7 points

Legs substantial. Wide set, of medium length, and in proportion to the body. Paws large, round, well-tufted, with five toes in front and four in back.

TAIL - 5 points

Long, wide at the base and tapering. Fur long and flowing.

COAT - 20 points

The fur on the front shoulders is shorter and should become gradually longer along the back towards the tail, ending in a shaggy, heavy coat on the britches. The sides of the cat's coat should gradually get longer until the stomach is reached, where it should be long and full. A full ruff is not expected; however, there should be a slight frontal ruff beginning at the base of the ears. The fur on the tail should be long and full. Feet and ears should be tufted. The coat should be fine, heavy, and should fall smoothly. The coat should have a lustrous sheen, but should not be excessively oily or dull. A slight undercoat may be carried.

COAT COLORS - 10 points

All accepted colors and patterns except color-points.

CONDITION - 10 points

Solid, firm, muscular. No inclination to fat, yet with substantial bone structure. Clean, well groomed.

DISQUALIFY: A coat that is overall even or short. Buttons, lockets, or spots and undershot chin, short face, wedged head, crossed eyes, kinked tail. Incorrect number of toes and short cobby body.

IMPORTANT: EMPHASIS MUST BE PLACED ON TYPE RATHER THAN SIZE.

Wolfgang's fine book entitled "Shorthaired Cats" printed in 1963 states that: "A Russian Blue's coat is as lush and lustrous and soft as is possible to imagine. It is short and close-lying. When stroking this coat one may design patterns in the fur as one can in a plush or short beaver fur." She, however, goes on to state: "Authorities, including breeders and judges, believe that no Russian Blue bred today excels in this identifying coat. Breeders in England and America have experimented in cross-breeding the obtainable bloodlines with blue Domestic and Blue Point Siamese, but neither crossing has resulted in success. The Domestic cross ruined the oriental bone structure as well as lessened the coat plushness; the Blue Point cross did not lessen the oriental type, but it in no way helped the desired coat texture."

Today, mainly, because of the inbreeding in the limited bloodlines, we are seeing a reappearance of the plushy, double coat the standard calls for. Many people seem to be misled into thinking that the Russian Blue standard calls for a coat that stands on end. This I feel is not the intent of the standard and the words: "double coat stands out from body due to density" still mean a short, close-lying thick coat. Perhaps I should first state my definition of close-lying. My use of the term is defined in the dictionary as: matching or blending without gap, fitting tightly or exactly. Close-lying is not to be confused with slick which means smooth. To interpret the coat as standing on end would give us almost an Exotic Shorthair coat which is described in part in the standard as "dense, plush. Stands out from body due to density, not flat or close-lying. Medium in length." CFA and ACFA standards of years past seem to state this close-lying concept also by describing the coat in terms such as: "Lies out from body due to thick undercoat. May best be felt by stroking toward the head." If the coat were standing on end, so to speak, one would not have to stroke it toward the head to feel its thickness. I think it is worthwhile here also to repeat the word short in reference to the Russian Blue coat.

A Russian Blue coat is at its best in the middle of the winter. A Russian Blue will shed its coat, as do most cats, in the summer. Age also plays a large part in coat condition and plushness. I have never had a Russian Blue who did not get a plushier coat as it got older. I have actually had to clip down older Russian Blues in summer because their coats were so thick. Russian Blue males, on the other hand, between a year and a half and two and a half seem to have a terrible time retaining coat. It is my feeling that this is because of an overabundance of male hormone, but for whatever reason it seems to be a reality. Because few Russian Blues are shown after the age of 2 or so, few exhibitors and judges are able to see some of the fine coats older Russian Blues develop. This is primarily due to the fact that older cats of most breeds are usually more difficult to show, being a bit more temperamental because of wanting to sire in the case of males, or being in season in the case of the females. Also older cats lose some of their refinement in type; jowling and thickening through the chest, etc., with age. However, coat plushness has been retained and improved through inbreeding.

COLOR AND TEMPERAMENT

Russian Blue color has become one of the most consistent features, as most breeders have realized that the lighter shades of blue, which describes the undercoat, combined with a definite, distinct silver tipping, produces a truly unique, beautiful cat. As breeding for the lighter coats has dominated, a few breeders have come almost to a solid blue color coat. The latest Russian Blue standard states: "a definite contrast should be noted between ground color and tipping." The Russian Blue is most certainly a tipped and not a solid blue cat.

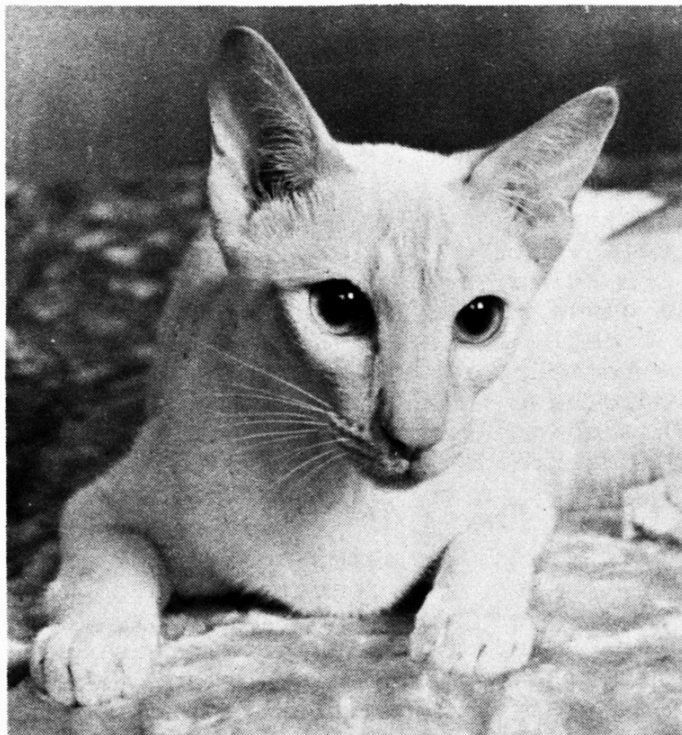

On the subject of color, I feel I should mention tabby markings, which are certainly not desirable, however, one must realize that almost all Russian Blue kittens destined for outstanding color and tipping go through stages. The 4 to 6 week old Russian Blue kitten almost always is of a solid color with very long guard hairs which begin to disappear and fall out as tipping develops first on the face and legs and then moves down the length of the body. Uneven body color often results and can be seen on light colored Russian Blues only to disappear as the cat reaches maturity and fully sheds its kitten coat. Sometimes a row of long dark guard hairs will remain and be seen down the backs of kittens with good color, and this is also a passing condition. Again to refer to standards of years past, allowance was often made for ghost tabby markings and shadings on kittens.

It seems appropriate to include in an article on the Russian Blue standard a few words concerning Russian Blue temperament. Basically the Russian Blue is a shy cat. They are very devoted to their owners and do not show well, generally, when they are agitated by a person they do not know. They respond best to a firm, gentle method of handling. Russian Blue males are very sensitive to smells or more specifically other male odors, and care should be taken to avoid facing them toward other males in the show ring. It is best to start a Russian Blue kitten out young in the show ring and to continue showing a kitten as many times as possible.

SUMMARY

The Russian Blue standard can best be summed up as 50 points for type, 20 points for tipping, 20 points for coat and 10 points for eye color. Russian Blue breeders have worked very hard to produce consistent type. A Russ-

AN IDEA FOR BREEDING COLORPOINT SHORTHAIRES

There are many frustrations attached to the breeding programs of those who, like myself, raise Siamese, Colorpoint Shorthairs and Oriental Shorthairs. Before the advent of the Orientals, we only had to cope with the disappointment of that smashing Chocolate Point being not a Siamese but an AOV Colorpoint. No sooner did I become adjusted to the routine of hoping for stripes to appear on the faces of those white newborns than it was time to switch gears - for when papa was a Lavender Oriental and mama a Lynxpoint Colorpoint SH, those stripey little mites, once so eagerly awaited, were themselves AOVs! To rub salt into the wound, as the litters developed it would be the lynxpoint halfbreeds, not the Orientals, who had the best (a) ear set, (b) tails, (c) color, (d) all of the above, and/or whatever other features one's kittens usually lack and toward which one strives!

The intent of this writing is not to rehash the debate about whether or not Colorpoints should be reclassified as Siamese: the arguments pro and con have been aptly stated many times by many people. Rather, I would like to ask those who breed Colorpoints and/or Orientals to consider the merits, and the disadvantages, of working toward recognition of Red, Cream, Lynx and Particolor Pointed AOV Oriental Shorthairs as Colorpoint Shorthairs eligible for championship.

To be sure, economics is part of this picture, just as it is with the Siamese pointed Colorpoints. Breeders can always keep their AOV's for breeding future generations, but they cannot be shown, or sold as show quality, despite the fact that some of them are excellent specimens. Further, it is my belief that Orientals could make a very valuable contribution to the quality of the Colorpoint breed.

As I am most familiar with CFA procedures, the points set forth here will refer to that association, although they may also be applicable in varying degrees to the other registering bodies.

Until recently, American Shorthairs were permitted in Colorpoint Shorthair breeding programs but, for many years, few breeders considered crossing to Americans to be either helpful or desirable. There was always an inherent illogic in this procedure for any "American Shorthair" which was the parent of a pointed kitten had to be carrying one Siamese gene. Many of these so-called Americans were of unknown background so that until they themselves had offspring it was not known whether or not they carried Siamese. A self-Shorthair carrying Siamese was, at one time, accepted for registration as an American Shorthair when, in fact, it would more accurately have been an Oriental Shorthair except for the fact that Orientals were not being bred in CFA at that time! In addition, the non-pointed kittens which occurred in Colorpoint breedings involving Americans and Siamese or Americans and Colorpoints were, back then, registered as AOV Colorpoints. Today such kittens would be registered as Orientals! Current CFA rules specify that all the kittens in a given litter must be registered in the same breed. If the changes I propose here were to be adopted, Colorpoints and Orientals would have to be excepted from this rule. This change, and the addition of Orientals to the breeds permitted in Colorpoint pedigrees, would be the only revisions necessary.

At this point, it seems to be migraine time: perhaps you, the reader, are also in need of an aspirin or two. So let's give our heads a chance to stop spinning, set aside the Punnett squares and pedigrees and take a look at the practical ramifications of allowing Orientals in Colorpoint breedings. There are specific ways in which the use of the former breed could be beneficial to the latter.

BODY COLOR

Body color which is free of ghost striping and/or spotting is desirable in Siamese, Colorpoints and Orientals (other than tabbies). This clear body color is the result of the cat being either homozygous ( $t^{at^a}$ ) or heterozygous ( $t^{at^b}$  or  $t^{at^m}$ ) for the Abyssinian tabby pattern, also called ticked tabby. Yes, Virginia, all cats are tabby under the fur. To refresh memories where necessary: whether or not a cat looks tabby to the eye is determined by the presence or absence of the agouti gene (a). This gene is dominant to non-agouti (aa), alias "self-color" (be that the point color of a Seal Point Siamese, a Tortie Persian, or what have you). The only exceptions to this are: 1) dominant white, which masks all other colors and patterns, and 2) red, which allows some degree of a cat's tabby make-up to be visible. This is why some self (aa) red cats nevertheless show tabby markings. A cat who is either homozygous (AA) or heterozygous (Aa) for agouti will be visibly a tabby.

The ticked tabby pattern is dominant to mackerel ( $t^m$ ), spotted (thought to be a form of mackerel) and classic tabby ( $t^b$ ). In the Abyssinian, the pattern has been perfected to the extent that the tail, legs and face are virtually barless. The natural form of ticked tabby, however, is a cat with striped face, legs and tail, but whose body has a ticked coat free of striping. It is this underlying pattern which we select for when we attempt, in Siamese and Colorpoint breedings, to achieve cats with clear body color free of ghost tabby markings. When, for example, we find that relatively rare creature, the Lynxpoint with no body striping, it is fairly certain that this cat's color is the expression of the t<sup>a</sup> gene. Breed such a cat to an Oriental and ticked tabby kittens are among the expectations.

Although the Ticked Tabby Oriental is still a rarity, it could prove most helpful in Lynxpoint breeding programs if its use were allowed. For, rather than looking for a clear-bodied Siamese (also hard to find!) to breed to that overly stripey Lynxpoint, and then sitting back and hoping for kittens with good color, one could instead use a Ticked Tabby Oriental with greater certainty of the Lynxpointed offspring having clear coats. In addition, by breeding two tabbies together, the probability of Lynxpoint kittens is increased. Some would even be homozygous for agouti (impossible if the mate is a Siamese) so that all of their offspring would be tabbies, thereby eliminating the possibility of Siamese colored AOV's. A breeding of this sort seems far more desirable than taking that too-stripey Lynxpoint to a Siamese in order to improve color.

I have not discussed breeding to another Lynxpoint since it is not easy to find clear-coated ones, although if a suitable mate were available, their offspring would also have the potential of being homozygous for agouti. Breeding to an Oriental cuts the chances for Siamese-pointed AOV's: they are still possible but should be outnumbered, statistically, by the Oriental and Lynxpoint kittens.

Oriental went from obscurity to CFA recognition in record time and their excellent overall quality is reflected in the results of their first season in Championship classes. In the first CFA show in which they were eligible for the latter, an Oriental finished in each ring: the first CFA Oriental grand champion completed her title in one show and this milestone occurred less than three months after the start of the season! Less than a year later, there are already seven Oriental grands in CFA, with many more champions on the verge of achieving that title. In contrast, from the time they were recognized for CFA championship, it took five, nine and ten show seasons, respectively, for the first Red Point, Lynxpoint and Tortie Point grand champions to achieve the honor. Although today's Colorpoints are improving dramatically, their show ring achievements still do not compare with those of the Orientals.

Part of the reason for the slower pace of the Colorpoints is probably the reluctance of some of the top Siamese breeders to allow their lines to be used in Colorpoint breedings (this seems to be changing today). The Orientals were more fortunate in that many of the original Oriental breeders also had high quality Siamese to use in their breeding programs. Those who raise Colorpoints should find that, on the whole, Oriental breeders would be more amenable to allowing their cats to be used in Colorpoint breedings than would Siamese breeders.

I would be very interested to hear from breeders who either approve of or object to the ideas set forth above. If there is enough interest in promoting colorpointed Oriental AOV's for Colorpoint Shorthair registration, those breeders in favor of the effort will need to organize a campaign to exhibit the AOVs. This should not need to be as extensive a program as is required for recognition of a new breed; however, it should be arranged so that they are shown in each region of the country and before as wide an assortment of judges and fanciers as possible.

Interpreting the Russian Blue Standard

ian Blue should not be mistaken for any other breed of "blue" cat. No other breed carries the distinctive tipping of the Russian Blue. A Russian Blue may go out of coat, it should never be devoid of tipping. Eye color sets the Russian Blue off. The new CFA Standard allots 10 points to eye color. The Russian Blue Breed Council members feel this is a definite identifying feature of the breed.

Russian Blue breeders have worked very hard over the years to produce the consistent show winners being recognized today. Many of the older breeders have continued their breeding programs through years of small classes and little appreciation. Today almost every show will have a sizable, outstanding class of Russian Blues. As the saying goes: "We've come a long way, baby, our best is yet to come."###

17 ... Groom Shorthaired Cats

Although they don't need the same amount of grooming as their longhaired cousins, the shorthaired breeds do require grooming! A good time to start the daily habit is when the kitten is young. At first he will consider it another game and will wiggle a great deal, but he will soon learn to love the attention and will respond by standing still.

Different breeds with varying coat lengths will require special finishing touches, but the basic needs for grooming short coats are a fine-toothed comb and your bare hands! The comb will very effectively remove loose and dead hair and, if there are parasites present, will quickly expose them. Your hands are used for a brisk rubdown after the combing. A good clean coat is essential and this includes the complete absence of any parasites. If fleas are present, the cat should be bathed with a flea shampoo (be sure it is safe for cats). The bedding and sleeping area should be well-sprayed with a reliable flea-spray to prevent reinfestation and to kill any flea larvae.

Most shorthaired cats shed their coat seasonally, but some shed all year round to a certain extent, so there will always be some loose hair (dead hair) to be removed. If it is not removed, the coat will appear dull and lifeless and the cat will attempt to 'groom' himself by licking and can thereby swallow large quantities of hair. This can become a severe problem as hairballs will form in the stomach and intestines, causing vomiting or constipation and even requiring surgical removal if a blockage is caused. The old adage "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" should be well observed and steps taken to prevent hairballs before they start.

SHOW PREPARATION

No cat can be prepared for a show in just a few days. He must be groomed daily all year round for best results. Start with a clean coat and if the cat needs a bath do this several days prior to the show in order to allow the natural oils to return to the coat. White or light-colored cats will need more attention than others so that they may be shown at their sparkling best. If you normally use newspaper in the cat's litter-box, switch to paper towels or the newsprint will stain the cat's feet. Dry shampoos can be used for spot-cleaning and there is no hard and fast rule as to how often one should bathe a shorthaired cat. Much depends on the breed of cat, color and condition of the coat (greasy or dry) etc. Experiment several weeks before the show and discover how long it takes the coat to look its best after bathing. This can be your guide and once the coat is looking in top condition keep it that way. There are many types of shampoo made especially for cats and, once again, it is wise to experiment some time before the show to discover which type is best for your particular cat. Many exhibitors do not bathe their shorthaired cats more than once in a show season. Others bathe them every week, so do what is best for your individual cat.

Siamese, Colorpoint Shorthairs, Bombays, Burmese, Oriental Shorthairs, Korats and Havana Browns, all of which are breeds having close-lying coats, will benefit from a good brushing with a rubber grooming brush. This works wonders to remove dead hair, but it should not be over-used or it can also take out good healthy hair and leave thin spots. Finish the grooming with a brisk rub-down with your bare hands. The cats really enjoy this and you will be amazed at the amount of dead hair that can be removed this way. Using the palms of your hands, stroke the cat briskly from head to tail, one hand after the other. Some breeders like to follow this by 'polishing' the coat with a silk glove or small chamois leather. This causes static and makes the coat cling to the body.

Exotic Shorthairs do not have a close-lying coat so do not need this type of grooming. A little powder sprinkled in and COMPLETELY brushed out will help the coat stand off from the body.

Rex cats require the use of a very soft baby brush for their unique type of wavy coat and, as they have no protective guard hairs, should be groomed very gently. The fine-toothed comb can also be used with care.

The Abyssinian should not have the rubber brush used on his coat for daily grooming for it can break the individual hairs and spoil the ticking. However, it is great to really remove dead hair when the cat is NOT being shown. A good combing is all that this breed usually needs, with the same applying for American Shorthairs, Egyptian Maus, Japanese Bobtails, Manx, Russian Blues and Scottish Folds. However, a regular-type hair brush can be safely used on these breeds, with preference for a natural bristle brush rather than nylon. Brushing removes dust from the coat and stimulates circulation.

Grooming should also include the cleaning and care of eyes and ears. Eyes should be gently wiped with a cotton ball moistened with warm water, using a different one for each eye. Ears should be wiped free from dust that can cling to the natural greasy secretion from the ear. Any kind of dark extrudate should be immediately checked by your veterinarian for signs of ear-mites. Claws should be trimmed the day before the show - both front and back feet.

ADVERSE EFFECTS UPON COAT

Some shorthaired cats readily reflect climatic conditions and can show color changes in their coats. This is particularly true with black and blue cats as exposure to the sun will give their coats a rusty tinge, as will excessive dampness of surroundings. (Notice how the area around the mouth and inside the front paws can look rusty after excessive washing by the cat.)

Siamese will show light hairs and speckling in the points if they have had a high temperature, and solid-colored cats will often produce white hairs sprinkled over the body from the same cause. Some antibiotics can cause these same problems with the coat. In most cases, it is just a matter of time and the growth of a new coat to eliminate the signs, but grooming should still be continued to keep the coat in condition.

Internal and external parasites can affect the coat badly and the cat should be kept free from them at all times. Worms can cause a harsh, dry coat that no amount of grooming will improve - the parasites must be eliminated first. Get the right medication before you de-worm the cat. It is best to take a stool specimen to your veterinarian for microscopic examination. Various types of worms require different treatment, so it is essential that you know which type or types that you must treat.

Remember: the condition of the cat reflects his care and diet and what goes inside will show up outside! A good, well-balanced diet (which includes the necessary vitamins and minerals) is essential for a healthy cat with a good coat, bright eyes and sound body structure. As with any breed of cat, good grooming is icing on the cake. It's what is underneath that really counts!###

ON TO THE NEXT SHOW

Assuming that your cat now has four winner's ribbons (or less) to her credit after her first show, you will continue to show her in the Open class at her next one. After the show at which her total winner's ribbons is six, you must send a Championship claim form and fee of one dollar to the CFA Central Office, P.O. Box 430, Red Bank, NJ 07701. One of these forms will be found in every CFA show catalog.

At her next show, your cat must compete as a Champion. If you entered her as an Open (which was what she was when entries closed), you must inform the show secretary when you check in at the showhall that she is now a Champion cat. The secretary will see that the correction to her entry is made in the official records and the judges informed, so that your cat will be able to compete in a class with any other Blue Point Himalayan female Champions who might be present. If there are no others, she will be in the class alone.

Champion cats do not receive winner's ribbons. The objective now is to be named Best Champion Himalayan in the class judging and receive a purple ribbon, and, hopefully, be named Best or 2nd Best Champion (or place in a Top Ten Finals) to earn Grand points.

When your cat accumulates 200 Grand points, she has achieved her Grand Championship. You will then be able to show her in the class for Blue Point Himalayan female Grand Champions!###

GREAT CATS OF N. AMERICA, 1978

The records came tumbling down! During the 1978 show season (May 2, 1977 - April 30, 1978), CFA affiliated clubs in mainland U.S.A. and Canada staged 251 cat shows. This was 35 more than in the 1977 season which had had an increase of 25 shows over 1976 and had set a new record. Ten more CFA shows were held in Japan and Hawaii.

In this magazine last July/August a Standard of Perfection for a Cat Show was published. This was based on a survey of exhibitors' preferences and the results indicated the popularity of the one-day show format. The willingness of CFA affiliates to please exhibitors is reflected in statistics for the 1978 season which reveal that 82 shows were one-day events, a huge increase over 1977 of 52%!

Average paid entry at the one day shows (at which maximum permitted was 175) was 171; the average at two-day shows (maximum permitted: 375) was 286. These figures represent an increase of 4% at the one-day shows, but a decrease of 3% at the two-day shows when compared to the 1977 season.

Total number of felines entered at all CFA shows for the season was 61,875, an increase of 10%. The average cat show had the following exhibits present and competing:

	1 day show	2 day show
Kittens	30	50
Championship	94	144
Premiership	12	19

CFA'S BIGGEST SHOWS

Shows attracting the largest competition in the three show divisions in the 1978 season were:

KITTENS

Santa Monica Cat Club	148
Empire Cat Club	122
Houston Cat Club	106
Long Island Cat Club	103
Mark & Linda Cat Club	93

CHAMPIONSHIP

Empire Cat Club	385
Mark & Linda Cat Club	302
Long Island Cat Club	272
Houston Cat Club	240
Cat Fanciers of Washington	233

PREMIERSHIP

Empire Cat Club	42
C.A.T.S.	38
Buffalo Cat Fanciers	36
Mid-Michigan Cat Club	35
Santa Monica Cat Club	35

For the third consecutive year, Santa Monica Cat Club attracted a larger Kitten Class than any other CFA club in the country: 100 in the 1976 season, 139 in 1977, and 148 in 1978. The California club failed, however, to capture the Premiership Division after heading it for two years, but did tie for fourth place.

New York's Empire Cat Club firmly established itself as a serious contender in 1978 by leading all North American clubs in the number of entries in the all-important Championship Division of its February show. Its 385 entries set a new criteria: in 1977, the Division leader, Knickerbocker, another New York club, drew 299 entries to Empire's 281. Empire is also the 1978 winner in the Premiership Division with 42 entries, four less than Santa Monica's winning 1977 figure of 46.

Hot new contender for entry volume is the Mark & Linda Club in the nation's capitol city finishing among the Top 5 clubs for both Kitten and Championship Divisions. It drew 30 Premiership entries. Another new contender in the entry stakes is Long Island Cat Club whose January show entry gained it a standing in two Divisions.

A change of show date from its traditional January to December may have been the cause of decreased entries for the Houston Cat Club, Texas, always a strong contender. In the 1977 season, the club won second place in both Kitten and Championship Divisions and fourth in Premiership. For 1978, its Kitten Class was smaller by twelve entries, its Championship Division by fifty and its Premiership by one. The club's show for the 1979 season is set for January so it may well regain lost ground.

NEW CFA GRAND CHAMPIONS

460 show cats won Grand Championships in the 1977 season: no less than 610 claimed this illustrious title in 1978! Number of points required to Grand during both seasons was 150.

For the six years that we have kept track of this data, leading breeds in number of new Grands each season have been Persians, Siamese and Burmese. In 1978, all three had a higher number of new Grand Champions than ever before, as did most of the other breeds among those who have competed in Championship for more than one season. Exceptions were the Havana Browns, which had two less than in 1977, and the Japanese Bobtails (now only in their second season) down by one. Balinese, which had no Grands in 1977, produced one for 1978.

Five catteries tied for runner-up position with five Grand Champions each. They are:

- IN LIEU 5 Siamese
- LEE 5 Persians
- LOWLANDS 4 Persians, 1 Exotic SH
- SURREY HILL 5 Persians
- TABBYLAND 5 Persians

There were fourteen breeders who each produced four Grand Champions, and twenty who bred three.

THE GRAND PREMIERS

There are 87 new Grand Premiers for 1978, twelve more than in 1977. They are dominated by 31 Persians, 13 Siamese, 7 Abyssinians, 7 American Shorthairs and 7 Burmese. 47 of these cats are neuters, 40 are spays.

Senior among them is Chinchilla Persian neuter KITTY-FAIR KITTY-JOE born 11/6/65; bred by Mrs. Tessier, he is owned by Florence Lepore. Born almost three years later on 8/19/68 was SILVER CHAPEL, Shaded Silver American SH spay. Third is Red Tabby Persian neuter, KAALA'S TICKLED PINK OF BATUSH, born 7/14/69.

Youngest of the Grand Premiers is Blue Point Siamese neuter VENUSBERG'S FASOLT, born 5/13/77 and owned by Albert and Gail Ammons. Second youngest is Manx neuter BRIAR-BRAE'S MYKEL OF LITTLEPAWS, born 4/7/77. The youngest Grand Premier Longhair is a Cream neuter born 4/22/76, LION HOUSE TIMOTHY OF CHERIBON.

AZIMA'S LALE FILIZ, who won her Grand Premiership this season, is the first spayed Turkish Angora to earn this CFA title.

CFA NATIONAL AWARDS

A Black Persian is AMERICA'S BEST CAT, 1978! Leading the parade of the Top Twenty Cats in CFA is Marlene Luyster's fine male, GRAND CH. JAMA KATS MIDNIGHT SUN, born 12/22/75. It is his second year in the Top Twenty: in 1977 he finished the season in thirteenth position.

AMERICA'S BEST KITTEN is Red Persian male, GRAND CH. JO-LE'S JET SET, born 3/7/77. His breeder/owners are Joseph and Carol Gianuzzi.

GRAND CH. & GRAND PR. NIPAWIN PIPKIN OF TABBYLAND, Bluecream Persian spay, is AMERICA'S BEST PREMIER. Born 8/26/71, she was bred by Orv & Jane Shultz and is owned by Lawrence Filson.

So, once again, the top placings in the three show divisions of North America go to Persian cats!

The Top Twenty CFA list is comprised of nine Persians (including three Whites and three Blacks), two Abyssinians, two American Shorthairs, two Exotic Shorthairs, two Siamese, a Burmese, a Russian Blue and an Oriental Shorthair. The latter is GRAND CH. SAND N' SEA BIKKURI OF JEMWYCK: both her breeder and owner deserve special congratulations for it is most unusual to find a breed which has just completed its first season in CFA Championship competition represented among America's twenty leading felines!

Repeat catteries on the list from 1977 are: ADAM'S RIB, JAMA KATS, JENSEN, Q-T CATS and WIL-O-ROSE. In addition to the Top Cat, another on the list for the second consecutive year is ADAM'S RIB CHICAGO FIRE who was 8th Best Cat in 1977 and moved up in 1978 to the third position. Eleven of the illustrious Top Twenty are males, nine are females.

It is interesting to note that visitors to the big Empire Cat Club show (featured in the May/June issue of this magazine) had the chance to see the majority of this year's best felines in North America in competition. Fourteen of the Top Twenty Cats were entered at that February event, plus four of the Top Five Premiers and two of the Top Five Kittens.

In the Best of Breed awards, KEJO'S KYRIE is Best Bombay for the second consecutive year.

In the Best of Color awards, a real veteran performer is SAILAWAY WILLIE who is Best Blue-Eyed White American Shorthair in the country for the fifth consecutive year! Another winner of note is TRES OF BRANDYWOOD, Shaded Silver American Shorthair, who is listed for the third time. Winners for two years are Odd-Eyed White Manx, RED OAKS MILL MELLA ELLA, and Black Manx, LUPRACAN MUS JOHN DONOVAN.

A record of the outstanding 1978 season CFA Grand Champions, Grand Premiers and National Award winners appears in chart form in this 6th Annual Salute to the GREAT CATS OF N. AMERICA. Many are proudly presented by their owners in the 22 pages of the Grand and National Portrait Galleries. Congratulations to all on a splendid achievement.###

The youngest Grand Premier Longhair is a Cream neuter born 4/22/76, LION HOUSE TIMOTHY OF CHERIBON. AZIMA'S LALE FILIZ, who won her Grand Premiership this season, is the first spayed Turkish Angora to earn this CFA title.

CFA NATIONAL AWARDS

A Black Persian is AMERICA'S BEST CAT, 1978! Leading the parade of the Top Twenty Cats in CFA is Marlene Luyster's fine male, GRAND CH. JAMA KATS MIDNIGHT SUN, born 12/22/75. It is his second year in the Top Twenty: in 1977 he finished the season in thirteenth position. AMERICA'S BEST KITTEN is Red Persian male, GRAND CH. JO-LE'S JET SET, born 3/7/77. His breeder/owners are Joseph and Carol Gianuzzi.

GRAND CH. & GRAND PR. NIPAWIN PIPKIN OF TABBYLAND, Bluecream Persian spay, is AMERICA'S BEST PREMIER. Born 8/26/71, she was bred by Orv & Jane Shultz and is owned by Lawrence Filson.

So, once again, the top placings in the three show divisions of North America go to Persian cats!

The Top Twenty CFA list is comprised of nine Persians (including three Whites and three Blacks), two Abyssinians, two American Shorthairs, two Exotic Shorthairs, two Siamese, a Burmese, a Russian Blue and an Oriental Shorthair. The latter is GRAND CH. SAND N' SEA BIKKURI OF JEMWYCK: both her breeder and owner deserve special congratulations for it is most unusual to find a breed which has just completed its first season in CFA Championship competition represented among America's twenty leading felines!

Repeat catteries on the list from 1977 are: ADAM'S RIB, JAMA KATS, JENSEN, Q-T CATS and WILL-O-ROSE. In addition to the Top Cat, another on the list for the second consecutive year is ADAM'S RIB CHICAGO FIRE who was 8th Best Cat in 1977 and moved up in 1978 to the third position. Eleven of the illustrious Top Twenty are males, nine are females.

It is interesting to note that visitors to the big Empire Cat Club show (featured in the May/June issue of this magazine) had the chance to see the majority of this year's best felines in North America in competition. Fourteen of the Top Twenty Cats were entered at that February event, plus four of the Top Five Premiers and two of the Top Five Kittens. In the Best of Breed awards, KEZO'S KYRIE is Best Bombay for the second consecutive year.

In the Best of Color awards, a real veteran performer is SAILAWAY WILLIE who is Best Blue-Eyed White American Shorthair in the country for the fifth consecutive year! Another winner of note is TRES OF BRANDYWOOD, Shaded Silver American Shorthair, who is listed for the third time. Winners for two years are Odd-Eyed White Manx, RED OAKS MILL MELLA ELIA, and Black Manx, LUPRACAN MUS JOHN DONOVAN.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE 1978 CFA ANNUAL MEETING

by James R. Thompson
Gulf Shore Regional Director

This report is taken from my notes made at the Annual Meeting and Board Meetings held in San Francisco from June 22 to June 25, 1978. Complete, official Minutes of the proceedings will be published in the Fall CFA QUARTERLY.

NEW SHOW RULES EFFECTIVE IMMEDIATELY
The American Shorthair, Exotic Shorthair, Manx and Rex return to the color classes as of May, 1977. The patch pattern tabbies are still recognized in this action.

Solid Color (Chocolate or Lilac) Himalayans are no longer in Championship status: they are now A.O.V.

One day shows may now take 200 entries.

Show secretary or entry clerk must acknowledge receipt of entries within two weeks of receipt of entry.

Top Ten Format shows will award Best Champion and 2nd Best Champion if no champions are in the Top Ten.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CFA CONSTITUTION
The following are the results of the voting on Amendments.

PASSED:

Number 1 (Club application for, and election to, CFA membership);

Number 3 (Requirements for member clubs to be eligible to vote);

Number 9 (Delegates to the Annual may change the Show Rules by a two-thirds affirmative vote on any proposed changes that appear in printed material mailed to member clubs 45 days prior to the meeting).

Number 44 (Election by the delegates, instead of from the delegates, of officers and directors of CFA).

Proposed Amendment 11, which concerned modifications or changes by the Executive Board to the Show Rules and Standards, passed but then failed on a revote. Amendments 2, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 10 failed. Numbers 4, 12, 42 and 43 were withdrawn.

RESOLUTIONS

Resolutions which received the favorable vote of two-thirds of the delegates included numbers 17, 26, 27a, 27c and 31c (refer to New Show Rules paragraph in foregoing). Number 37e (special notification to appear in show information sheet of unusual circumstances at a show), and Number 38e (change "Best of Color" and "2nd Best of Color" ribbons to read "Best of Color Class" and "2nd Best of Color Class") also received favorable vote of two-thirds.

Other Resolutions which received favorable recommendation were: 14 (Legislation), 16 (Top Ten Format naming of best and second best champions), 30 (holding of two one-day shows culminating in a Best of the Best), 33 (points towards CFA National and Regional Awards for 2nd Best of Breed (or Division) wins), and 38f (no smoking in judging ring while cats/kittens present).

Resolutions receiving a negative response included Numbers 13, 15, 18, 19, 22, 24, 25 (all parts), 27b, 28, 29, 31a, 31b, 34, 35, 36, 37a, 37c, 37f, 38a, 38c, 38d, 38g, 39, 40 and 41. Those withdrawn were Numbers 20, 21, 23, 27d, 32, 37d and 38b.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

All candidates on the ballot - Richard Gebhardt, President; Rita Swenson, Exec. Vice President; William Cummings, Secretary; and Jean Rose, Treasurer - were voted into office by acclamation.

The Board set the compensation for Chairman at $14,000 per year (+ $2,000); Secretary - $3,000 (+ $1,000); Judging Program - $8,000 (+ $500); Clerking Program - $4,000 (+ $1,000); Attorney - $4,000 (+ $500); Yearbook Editor - $17,000 (+ $2,000); Executive Director - $25,000 (no change); and Managing Director - $24,000 (no change).

LET'S GO .... TO A CFA SHOW!

You have just purchased your first pedigreed cat from a CFA breeder and have decided what you are going to name her. It is mid-summer and your new cat, let's say she is a Blue Point Himalayan, will be eight months of age before a show will be held in your area. No cat over the age of 8 months can enter a CFA show without being CFA registered and it takes about three weeks for an application for registration to be processed. You will want to mail the blue litter slip you received from your cat's breeder to CFA right away so that you have the registration number in plenty of time to enter the show. While you are waiting for it to arrive, you can contact the entry clerk of the show you have chosen for your cat's debut and ask for show information (this is called the show flier) and entry form. Entries for shows close a few weeks in advance of the show date, sometimes as much as six weeks ahead, so plan early. Your entry must be in the hands of the entry clerk by the closing date or your Himalayan cannot be in the show.

Your cat will begin her show career in the Open class for Blue Point Himalayan females. (Even if you had purchased a cat that had been shown elsewhere and gained a show title, you would still enter the cat as an Open unless it was a CFA title.) Within a short time after the entry clerk receives your entry, you will be sent a confirmation so that you will know it was safely received and accepted. If you do not get this confirmation, you should write or telephone the entry clerk.

The morning of the show dawns. You will be up early wanting to get to the showhall in good time. The show might be held in a hotel,

ADVANCED TO APPROVED: C. Hummer, J. Kilborn.

The Board hearing on John Wells and Muriel Slodden was held; both were given three months suspension from June 23 to Sept. 23, then at that time relicensed at present standing. Barbara Maier hearing was continued until the October Board Meeting in Chicago.

REGIONAL ELECTIONS

The following are the results of the Regional elections:

|                 |                     |
|-----------------|---------------------|
| North Atlantic: | Marjorie Lomoriello |
| Northwest:      | Cathy Hummer        |
| Gulf Shore:     | James Thompson      |
| Great Lakes:    | Becky Jones         |
| Southwest:      | Will Thompson       |
| Midwest:        | Kathy McGinnis      |
| Southern:       | Walt Friend         |

a school gymnasium, fairgrounds facility, or similar building. CFA permits its clubs to hold either a vetted or a non-vetted show - the show flier will have indicated which this one is. If it is a vetted show, you will have to arrive between 7 AM and 9 AM (or as indicated) so that your cat can be examined by an attending veterinarian. Quite often, if the show is vetted, you will see a line of exhibitors waiting with their cats for their turn at the vet's table. The entry clerk is usually seated near the table and she will give you a card with your name, cat's name and cat's catalog number. The vet will initial this card after examining your cat and you are then free to proceed into the benching area. If it is a non-vetted show, you simply obtain your card from the clerk before benching your cat.

The clerk will point out a benching diagram to you. By studying this, you will see exactly where your cat is to be benched for the duration of the show. Benching areas are usually in long lines separated by aisles which vary in width depending on the size of the hall. The cages are set on tables covered with paper. You will notice that the cat on your left might be a Burmese and the one on your right might be a Korat, while across the aisle is an Aby, but there may not be another Himalayan nearby. This is because benching is arranged by exhibitor, not by breed. If you, a Longhair exhibitor, have a friend who shows Siamese and Manx, for example, you could request on your entry form to be benched next to your friends' cats.

It is now time to prepare your cat's cage. If you have settled for a single cage (included in the entry fee), you will usually be assigned one measuring 24"x24"x24", or less. If you have paid extra for a double cage, it will be approximately 24"x24"x48" wide. You prepare the cage for your cat by hanging little curtains on the sides and back (towels will do if you don't have curtains). These can be hung from the cage's top wire by clips or safety-pins. Some exhibitors have elastic through the top hem of their cage curtains and ribbons sewn at strategic places so that the curtains can be stretched to fit and tied to the wire of the cage. Others use round curtain rods, thread through top hem, and attach to cage wire by means of pipe cleaners at the corners. You will put a small rug on the cage bottom and a cover on top. Some exhibitors like to hang clear plastic in front of the cage to prevent spectators from touching the cats. Show management often provides litterpan, litter, water bowl, food dishes and food. Check the flier before you leave home so that if these items are not provided you can take your own.

Once you have the cage ready, take your cat from her carrier and put her in it. The carrier should be tucked neatly under the table along with any other items you may have brought to use during the show. The Club likes to present a neat showhall to the public and appreciates exhibitors' cooperation.

JUDGING

Now you have a moment to look over the catalog. This is usually on sale at the entrance or at the announcer's stand. You will want to look at the judging schedule so that you will know approximately when your cat will be judged in each of the four rings in order to have her groomed and ready. Exhibitors are also anxious to look in the catalog to see what competition their cats will face, particularly in their own classes.

It is vital to check the information printed in the catalog pertaining to your own entry. Is her name, registration number, birthdate, parentage, breeder and ownership shown correctly? If not, inform the show secretary right away and see that the secretary enters the correction in the master catalog which the Club will send to the CFA Central Office after the show is over. If this is not done, any wins your cat may receive could be voided by the Central Office.

The usual hour for judging to commence on the first day of the show is 10 A.M. if it is a two-day show; 9 A.M. if a one-day show. You will have noticed four rings set up in the hall. Each one has its own set of empty cages (12 to 20 of them), a long table for the judge and an adjacent long table for the judge's clerks. The ring will also contain a chair or two for the stewards. Stewards are frequently young children; their job is to disinfect the cages after each class.

Perhaps the Blue Point Himalayans are first on the list in one of the four rings on Saturday; then after lunch in the second ring; and, on Sunday, will be judged in the other two rings. Each ring represents a separate show and each judge works independently of the others. It is rather like going to four separate shows on one weekend. It is possible for your Open entry to win a "winner's ribbon" from each judge so you might have four at the conclusion of the weekend. It takes six to be a CFA Champion.

Judging is about to commence. Your cat is number 195. The announcer is calling for cats 193 through 202, the Blue Point Himalayans. You have carefully groomed your cat and she is looking at her best. Take her out of her benching cage and carry her to the ring where she is to be judged. You will see her number on top of one of the empty cages. Put her in it, close the door and walk away. Do not speak to the judge. There are seats in front of the ring where you may sit and watch the judging of the class.

The judge will take each cat out of its cage in turn and examine it to determine how closely it meets the standard of perfection for the Himalayan breed. First she will judge the males, then the females. She will hang first through third place ribbons (blue, red, yellow, respectively) for each class of each sex: Opens, Champions, Grand Champions. If worthy, the best male Open and the best female Open will each receive a red-white-&-blue winner's ribbon. Once a cat becomes a Champion, it must be entered in its next show in the Champion class; once it becomes a Grand, it must be entered in the class for Grand Champions. This change of class occurs not in the next ring but in the next show in which you enter the cat.

The Champion Blue Point Himalayans are competing for "Grand" points, the 200 each one needs to be acclaimed Grand Champion. The Grand Champions have already won the highest CFA title.

After the class ribbons for the Blue Points have all been hung, the judge will then decide which one is the best of these cats and which is second best. These cats are referred to as "Best of Color Class" and "2nd Best of Color Class" and receive, respectively, a black ribbon and a white ribbon.

(When judging of all the Himalayan adult cats has been completed in this ring, the judge will name "Best Himalayan Champion". This cat gets a purple ribbon and has earned one Grand point for each Himalayan Champion competing and defeated by this win. At this time the judge may also name the "Best Himalayan" and "Second Best Himalayan" who receive, respectively, a brown and an orange ribbon.)

Meanwhile, the judging of your cat's class has been finished in that ring. Sometimes, the cat will be ready to return to the benching area right away, in which case the judge or the clerk will turn her number card face down on the cage. This is your signal to quietly go to the cage and collect your cat, leaving the cage door open for cleaning. At other times, the judge will retain all the cats in the ring until each one has been judged. In that case, either the judge or the clerk will say: "These cats may go back" and you promptly go pick up your cat. If you have a question to ask the judge, you do not address the judge but ask one of the clerks. After all judging in that ring has been completed and the Finals have been held, it is quite alright to speak with the judge.

You now wait for the Blue Point Himalayans to be called to the second ring where the same procedure will be repeated. You must get your cat up to the ring when her number is called. If you delay, a "last call" will be made for Cat Number 195 and if you do not have her to the ring very soon after that, she will be marked absent in that ring and will have lost her chance to compete for wins.

THE FINALS

The usual practice is for Clubs to offer two All Breed rings and two LH/SH Specialty rings. However, this is not a rule and some will offer three rings of one type and one of the other, or even all four of the same type. The judges each conclude events in their ring with Finals. If your cat is called up for Finals in an All Breed ring, it means she has defeated both the Shorthair and Longhair cats for the award she receives. In the Specialty rings, your Blue Point Himalayan would have defeated Longhairs only for her Final award.

It is not advisable to leave the show-hall during judging in case you miss hearing your cat's number called. Even though you do not expect to go up imminently for judging of your cat according to the printed schedule, a judge to whom you have already taken your cat might decide to call her back for another look. "Tie-breaking" is an unofficial term used when a judge likes two or more cats who are entered in the same category (i.e. Open, Champion or Grand) and wants to compare them side-by-side. She might be considering the awarding of her Best Open awards and will ask for your Blue Point Himalayan, a Siamese Seal Point male and a Smoke Persian female to be brought back to the ring for further inspection. No ribbons are hung during "tie-breaking" and no announcement is made regarding why these particular cats have been recalled or which one has been chosen: you must wait until Finals to learn! If you do have to leave the showhall for any reason, ask a friend or the person benched next to you to listen for your cat's number and take her to the judging ring on your behalf.

Quite often, two judges will hold Finals at the end of the first day in their respective rings. These will usually be a Shorthair Specialty Finals and a Longhair Specialty Finals. The announcer will call the numbers of the cats selected. Listen, he is calling the cats for the Longhair Specialty Finals ... he called number 195! You quickly take your Blue Point back to the ring, put her in the cage bearing her number and try to find yourself a seat in front of the ring.

When all the cats are present, the judge will begin. The judging table will be covered with rosettes for the Finals winners and, very often, trophies or other mementos as well. If this particular ring is working on the Top Five Format, the judge will name Best and 2nd Best Open, Champion, Grand Champion plus the cats she rates as the Top Five. If it is a Top Ten Format, the judge will simply name the Top Ten cats. There is no set pattern a judge must follow in naming the placings, but the majority choose to announce them from 10th Best Cat up to Best Cat in a Top Ten, and, in a Top Five, begin with 2nd Best Open, Best Open, 2nd Best Champion, Best Champion, 2nd Best Grand Champion, Best Grand Champion, and proceed to Fifth through Best Cat. Immediately prior to announcing each cat's award, the judge will take it out of its cage and hold it up for all to see as she makes complimentary remarks about its good features.

SUSPENSE AND EXCITEMENT

Finals in the Longhair Specialty ring is in progress. The judge has announced her 2nd Best Open. It is time to learn the identity of the Best Open: she turns to the cage where your cat is - she has won Best Open! The judge continues and you wait in suspense to learn who are the Top 5 Cats. When you have been to several shows, you can estimate at this point your cat's chances to be in the Top 5. Those other exhibitors who, like you, have cats in the ring are busily figuring out their cats chances. There is another Blue Point Himalayan there, a male, and it was named Best Champion Himalayan, but your Open was earlier named Best Himalayan so you know that she must be placed above the male. Wait, the judge has just named that male her 4th Best Cat so you know yours must be at least 3rd Best!

The judge presents her 3rd Best Cat, a Black Persian female who was 2nd Best Grand Champion. You now realize that her Best Cat must either be your own number 195 or that Copper-Eyed White male who she has already named as Best Grand Champion. Which will it be? The suspense is unbearable! Some judges will pretend to turn to the cage of one cat when they've chosen the other but, at last, the moment comes. The White boy is SECOND Best Cat. You hardly hear what the judge is saying about him because you now know for sure that your Blue Point Himalayan female is going to be named BEST CAT IN SHOW! What a thrill for you!

On Sunday you have two new rings to take your cat to for judging, plus the possibility of being called to Finals in yesterday's second ring. Can your cat repeat her Saturday victory? If she does not make any more Finals, you should not be discouraged. Every judge is likely to view the entries differently and, when you show in CFA, you are competing with America's finest cats. It is impossible to be rated "Best" every time.

If your entry at this show had been a kitten or an altered cat, you would have been competing in the divisions for those felines. Kittens do not receive winner's ribbons but altered cats (neuters and spays) competing in the Premiership division do. The ribbons are purple-and-white. Best of Breed/Division wins are not made in these two divisions but Finals, using the Top Five format, take place. The judge presents to the audience the Top Five Kittens in a Longhair or Shorthair Specialty ring; in an All Breed ring, the judge will also name Best and 2nd Best Longhair Kitten and Best and 2nd Best Shorthair Kitten. In the Premiership Division, cats included in the Finals are the Top Five Cats (if it is an All Breed ring, Top 3 in a Specialty ring), the Best Premier (similar to Champion) and 2nd Best Premier. In an All Breed ring, Best Longhair Premier and Best Shorthair Premier are also named. The Kitten Finals and Premiership Finals usually follow the conclusion of the respective judging of these divisions.

Breeder's Notebook

by A. DAVID BANDY

Editor's Note: Readers who have questions about any phase of cat fancying (or suggestion for a discussion) are invited to write to Mr. Bandy (address on page 6) for response in this column.

Dear Mr. Bandy:

I would like to breed "true" Solid Red Persians (Red coloring sound to the roots) and would be most grateful if you could bring answers to the following questions:

Which are the bloodlines that are reputed for giving birth to Solid Reds? Which colors should be used to get bars out of Reds? Which bloodlines should be used to get back "type" without getting back tabby markings? Is close inbreeding the best way to achieve and keep the true Solid Red coloring? How should it be done? Is Red to Red mating prone at bringing back tabby patterns? How can one recognize a Solid Red at birth? Is it tabby marked or not? If yes, at what age does the kitten lose those markings?

Is there a good reason why so many Red Mackerel Tabby Persians are entered in shows as Solid Reds and achieve Grand Championship status or, even worse, national recognition as Solid?

Suzanne Hurtubise, 4835 Pierre Lauzon, Pierre-fonds, Quebec, Canada H8Y 2C4.

Breeding truly solid Red cats could prove to be a great accomplishment to a breeder who has the ambition and facilities to maintain enough stock to carry out the program. I have seen only one truly solid Red cat. She was an old female in the 1950's. She did not even have bars on her forelegs; but she had very poor type with a nose well over an inch long and a very weak chin. Judging from some of the photos of the Reds in existence in the 1940's, they also had their problems with markings although the color appeared deeper in the ones used in the advertisements of that time.

I am not sure if Red breeders practiced breeding chiefly Red to Red in the forties. The Red male that attracted much attention was PLUMFIELD'S PAT HAND who was sired by an imported cat, likely a colorbred Blue, DELMAR PAUL OF ALLINGTON. (A side note: at that time it was possible to add the buyer's prefix to an imported cat that had a cattery name suffix.) PAT HAND was used to produce lines of Reds, sometimes said to be solid in color, but also of lighter shade. I know of no line of Reds now that could be called consistently solid in color and of a darker shade.

There are many problems encountered with markings when breeding Reds and Creams. These problems are not to be found generally when breeding Blacks and Blues. But they could exist for I have seen Blacks produced out of Silver Tabbies that had Tabby patterns in their coats. Also there are often Blues produced in Blue Tabby litters that are solid Blues except for a few markings on the face, legs, or tail. It could be that Blues and Blacks have been produced through selection of breeding stock that was solid without markings for a much longer time than Reds and Creams thus stabilizing the genetic factors that produce solid coat color. It would be logical to assume that one, through a planned breeding program, could transfer the factors that produced solid color in Blues and Blacks to Creams or Reds. I am aware that both these colors, especially Blacks, are currently used to produce Reds so obviously the technique that would consistently produce deep solid Red color. Perhaps Tabbies are still too close in the ancestry.

I am sure all of your questions are important to Red breeders. I have not bred Reds or even Red Tabbies to any degree. Perhaps some of the readers could be of assistance by writing to CAT WORLD of their experiences.

I know of no reason why Reds with markings are permitted to win in our shows. I do know that for many years one never saw an extreme Red cat entered in shows. A few years ago, several breeders became interested in improving the type in Red cats. The result has been many Red cats now win in competition. I had an interesting experience a few years ago. I had two very typey Reds exhibited under me. One looked to have fewer markings than the other. On closer inspection, one was marked as a classic tabby and therefore had larger areas of solid Red color than the other who was marked as a mackerel tabby and naturally appeared to have more markings.

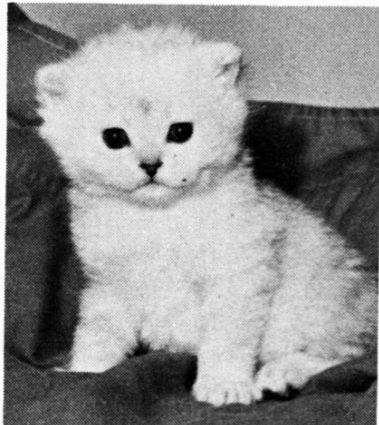

Occasionally, especially in young stock, owners are unsure in which class to place an entry (i.e. Solid Red or Red Tabby) and will enlist the judges to aid in a decision the first show or two where the cat is exhibited. The CFA standard calls for one solid shade of Red, but there is no disqualification for markings so it results in an evaluation where the decision is made by each judge as the entry comes to the bench. One must realize that the standards are supposed to be developed by the breeders and any change or clarification would naturally be expected to originate from the breeders.

Dear Mr. Bandy:

Balinese are supposed to be mutations from pure shorthaired Siamese. Is it possible for two shorthaired Siamese parents to produce a cat with a 2" coat? Could there be such a mutation, or would there have to have been a longhaired cat that had been introduced into the Siamese line to produce the longhaired gene? Would the longhaired gene change more in the cat than the coat? There are quite a few differences in the two cats that I have seen myself. The Bali has a softer voice--Siamese in tone, but much softer. The disposition is much more placid and less nervous. Extreme wedge is impossible to produce unless they are bred back to Siamese. Eyes are rounder than Siamese; bone structure is softer; coat is silkier. Isn't this due to LH gene?

Adrienne Schettini, 52 Corbin Ave.,
Garden City Park, NY 11040.

Short hair is dominant over long hair. Therefore a shorthair line could carry a gene for LH indefinitely and never have it appear in the phenotype of the offspring unless an occasion occurred where SH parents each carried a recessive gene for LH, both of which were inherited by the offspring. Once the gene for LH has been established, there is still a great deal of variation as to length of hair and plushness of coat. The number of hairs per follicle determines the plushness of the coat: Siamese have far fewer hairs per follicle than heavy-coated Persians. Being aware of these two factors, we can, through selection, produce many different variations in both coat length and density.

The almond eye is desirable in Siamese while the large round eye is bred for in Persians; however, I have seen some very round eyes in typey Siamese.

As far as disposition and voice is concerned, I can only speak from personal experience. My Siamese have more often been more extroverted and possessive of me with a very loud talkative characteristic. My Persians are quieter and more sedate in nature. A person once said that one Siamese often makes more noise than fifty Persians and I must say I could agree with him in regard to some Siamese. But some people prefer Siamese as pets for this feature.

Dear Mr. Bandy:

Do the Solids and proper Torties from Red male x Smoke Tortie female carry the shaded gene? I have a litter of 5 from the above breeding in the following colours: Shaded Cameo female, Red male, Black male, Black Smoke male, proper Tortie.

I am new to breeding Cameos and it's getting rather confusing as I have one experienced breeder telling me that the tortie carries the shaded gene but will only produce shaded kittens if mated to a shaded male. Another says the tortie cannot carry the shaded gene, although she agrees that the tortie will produce shaded kittens if mated to a shaded male!

Madge Huddleston, 8640 S. Yakima Ave.,
Tacoma, WA 98444.

If one has two lines of cats - one bred many generations of solid colors and/or solid color and particolor, and one that has been bred many generations of shaded - if a solid color cat is crossed with a shaded cat of the foregoing description, then silver, being closer to the original tabby coat of the cat, will predominate. But after solids and shadeds are intermixed several generations then both shadeds and solids can appear in the litters. Generally I would not expect solids or non-shaded particolors to produce many shaded progeny if bred among themselves. However, if they are bred to a shaded cat, you are introducing the shaded gene into the program again.

One hears once in a great while about a smoke kitten occurring from two non-shaded (solid or particolor) parents, but this is the exception rather than the rule.

We have lost sight of the fact that color breeding in animal programs is to set a desired color in stock so that it can be consistently produced from our stock. It is only through years of consistent selection for the desired color in breeding stock that such a line can be originated. But we must never fail to realize the importance of maintaining excellent type in our stock, because the most beautifully colored cat stands little chance of winning in our exhibitions if it isn't of excellent type.

Mrs. Leta Williams, a newly accepted trainee to the CFA Judging program, called to inquire about the question of using longhairs produced from exotic matings (some breeders call them 'Longhaired Exotics' and sell them at substantial prices for breeding stock). This could be construed as the blind leading the blind. The Exotic is a shorthaired cat. The gene for short hair is a dominant characteristic and cannot be carried by a longhair cat. Two LH Exotics bred together will produce only longhaired progeny. If I chose to use a longhair in my Exotic program, I would use the best quality Persian available as he will certainly be more prepotent for type than a longhair out of an Exotic mating and he will increase the quality of my Exotic line.###

Editor's Preamble (Continued from p. 4)

CAT PRESENTATIONS FOR CLUB MEETINGS
Daphne Negus, author of "A Korat History", the series which has been running in this magazine, wrote recently to say that the three photos from the ancient "Cat Book Poems" which appeared on page 38 of our May/June issue marked the first time they have been in a cat publication. "It is only due to the fact that Mrs. Burma Hyde, now of San Antonio, happened to be able to get photos of the book and then had slides made by an archaeologist, W. R. Van Der Veer, and sent me a set, that I was able to send the prints to CAT WORLD," she said.

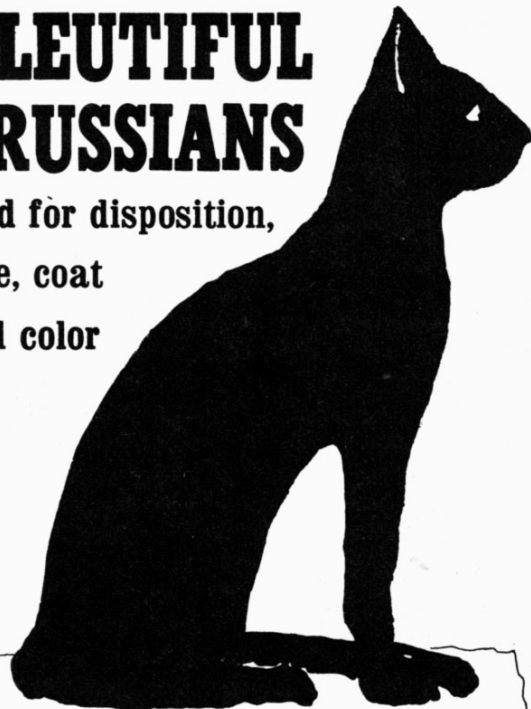

Mrs. Negus showed the actual slides and other interesting cat-related data to her audience during a special Pet Pride of Arizona benefit presentation on "Cats of Ancient Siam and Modern Thailand". It was very well received.

Cat clubs who might be interested in such a presentation for club meetings, or other purposes, may contact Mrs. Negus at 7126 N. 19th Ave. #122, Phoenix, AZ 85021.

If other cat clubs or breeders have presentation material about the breeding and exhibiting of show cats available for use at cat club meetings, details may be sent to us for announcement in this column. The more interesting the meeting, the better the attendance is likely to be!###
